Heavy Clouds Threaten Space Shot

Cooper's Ride Set Tuesday

Vessels, Planes Ready Around Globe

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Predicted heavy clouds in the launch area posed a threat today to astronaut Gordon Cooper's space flight. But Project Mercury officials said preparations were continuing for a launching Tuesday morning.

A weather summary released by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said that "morning cloudiness over Cape Canaveral tomorrow will cover at least half the sky, with some periods during the morning hours having nearly overcast conditions."

If conditions are favorable, an Atlas rocket is scheduled to blast off between 8 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. EST to start Cooper on a 22-orbit flight, lasting more than 34 hours.

A heavy cloudy cover over Cape Canaveral would prohibit vital camera coverage of the five-minute Atlas boost phase of flight. The photographic record is needed in case something goes wrong. Will Improve Later

The weather forecast said conditions would improve later Tuesday and probably would be better by Wednesday morning. There was hope that a northeast wind blowing into the area today would shift sufficiently to carry the clouds away by launch time.

Elsewhere around the world, the weather remained favorable. The prediction for the primary Pacific area southeast of Midway—where Cooper would land at the end of the 22 orbits—was for moderate seas and winds.

As the scheduled liftoff time neared, Cooper ran through a brief simulated countdown and launching in a trainer at Mercury

Ex-Leetonia Man Slain In California

A former Leetonia man was stabbed to death Saturday night during a robbery at his home at 4453 Rosehill Drive, Los Angeles, Calif., authorities reported relatives here Sunday.

Paul M. Longbottom, 38, was found in bed by police at 4 a.m. Sunday, a victim of multiple knife wounds.

Police discovered the body after arresting a suspect in Longbottom's stolen car. The suspect had Longbottom's wallet and other of his personal effects.

Hundreds Watch Shriners' Parade Here

Wearing virtually every brilliant color known, 300 costumed Shriners from the Al Koran Temple of Cleveland paraded here Saturday afternoon.

Following presentation by the white-suited Divan (Shrine official) of a flag to Mayor Dean B. Cranmer in front of City Hall, the parade moved promptly up Broadway and east on State St. to Vine St., after which the Shriners departed for other parades in East Palestine at 3 and in East Liverpool at 4:30.

In the top photo above, Mayor Cranmer accepts the flag, which once flew over the Capitol in Washington, D. C., from Paul A. Chevallard, illustrious potentate of the Al Koran Temple, while other members of the Divan watch. The other picture shows a segment of the parade.

Hundreds of Salemites watched the parade. Saturday afternoon shopping in downtown stores came to a near halt as customers, clerks and even store managers found spaces in display windows and entrances, if not at street curb, to witness the parade.

Marchers included Shriners groups in Oriental garb, others carrying American flags on high, and a number of musical groups among which were Al Koran's International champion Kilby Band, and a chorus which sang sentimental tunes from a canopied truck.

Bringing up the rear of the parade were clowns who sometimes employed long feather brushes to dust off surprised on-lookers, and who also passed out lollipops to youngsters.

Oriental costuming of the Shriners in some cases called for dark and exotic facial makeup, earrings, sheik-like beards affixed with glue, and gold shoes with long, curled toes. In place of a conventional baton, more than one of the band leaders directed with a fierce looking scimitar, or Moslem knife.

The Shriners were transported to and from Salem in buses and private cars.

Following the East Liverpool parade, the Shriners were served dinner at Beaver Local School.

2 Youths Hurt In 'Cycle Crash

Boy Injured As Auto Overtakes

Two Columbiana boys riding a motorcycle and a young Alliance boy in his father's car were slightly injured in two of four weekend traffic mishaps in the Salem district.

Gerald Leonard, 16, of RD. Route 46, Columbiana, received lacerations of the face, and his motorcycle passenger, Robert Dailey, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Dailey of 216 Middle St., lacerations of the back and face, when their vehicle struck an embankment Saturday at 7:15 p.m.

The Canfield post of the State Highway Patrol said young Leonard was driving north on New Buffalo Rd., about two miles south of Route 165, when he lost control on a curve and veered off the right side of the road south-east of Canfield.

Witnessing Leonard's predicament, an oncoming motorist, Lester Seidner, 28, of RD 5, Salem, swerved far to the right to avoid colliding with the youths, the patrol said.

The boys were taken to Salem City Hospital where Gerald is in fair condition and Robert is in fairly good condition.

Alliance Boy Hurt

Marvin Richards Jr., four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Richards of 20 E. Prospect St., Alliance, suffered a head injury Saturday morning at 8:15 when the father, 25, failed to negotiate a curve on Route 45, about three miles south of Route 224, and rolled over.

The boy was taken to Salem Central Clinic Hospital for a checkup. Richards was not cited, but his car was heavily damaged.

Hit-Skipper Apprehended

A patrolman from the Lisbon barracks apprehended a 28-year-old hit-skipper driver in Columbiana after he reportedly sideswiped two county autos within the space of a minute early Sunday morning on County Rd. 421, one mile north of Route 46.

Thomas Sayers Jr., 28, of 3200 Lisbon St., Columbiana, was cited for hit-skip driving. The patrol said Sayers was traveling north when he went left of center and sideswiped a car operated by David R. Weaver, 22, of RD 1, Negley. Sayers failed to stop, sideswiped a second car driven by

House Vote Due On Poor Relief Work Measure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A bill to require able-bodied poor relief recipients to work for their aid checks comes up for an Ohio House vote Tuesday. The measure already has Senate approval.

Many Ohio counties now require relief recipients to work for their money, but the new law would make such work mandatory.

The relief bill will come before the House while the Senate Finance Committee pokes to get the House-approved $1.3 - million general appropriations bill in shape for Senate passage the first week in June.

Two other appropriations bills are headed through the House today as lawmakers begin their 19th work week.

One is to meet a deficiency of $11.1 million for poor relief and other welfare purposes for the two-year fiscal budget period ending June 30. Another $2.5-million deficiency appropriation will cover inadequate appropriations in the 1961 sessions to meet the state's contribution to the school foundation program.

Both deficiency appropriation bills, if passed, will go to the Senate. The opening legislative sessions tonight will have little to offer in the way of news.

Up for Senate floor votes tonight are measures:

Authorizing sewer districts to levy taxes outside the 10 - mill limit.

Extending from 5 to 20 years the life of voted tax levies for sewer improvements.

The House will vote on a proposal to increase pensions of the widows of township firemen.

Coming up Tuesday is a House vote on a bill to establish training centers for the mentally retarded.

The Senate will vote Tuesday on a House-approved bill to permit county commissioners to lease a closed county home for use as a rest home.

375 Tour Facilities of Central Clinic

The Sunday afternoon open house and reception at the Central Clinic and Hospital attracted 375 persons from the immediate area and as far away as New York City.

Administrator Albert Hanna's staff workers were stationed at key spots in both the old and new sections to point out facilities to visitors who followed a designated path of travel through the medical unit.

A high point in the tour was the new wing added to provide a new emergency department on the first floor and a new laboratory and enlarged X-ray department on the second floor. Considerable remodeling and refurbishing has been completed throughout the plant.

The Red Cross Gray Ladies, hospital women's auxiliary members, and the Teenage Candy Strippers, a volunteer group sponsored by the auxiliary, were in charge of the reception, serving punch and cookies to visitors. The reception was planned by the women's auxiliary under the direction of Mrs. William J. McKay, president. Mrs. R. K. Zimmerman had charge of the Gray Ladies and Mrs. Albert Hanna, the Candy Strippers.

The new addition was built by the Phil Cahill Construction Co. with the Firestone Electric Co. providing the electrical service and the Ellyson Plumbing and Heating Co. doing the heating, plumbing and air conditioning work.

Kennedy Issues Warning On Racial Violence

President's Action Draws Criticism of Alabama Governor

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Federal troops were poised today to move into this tension-charged city as 1,200 police officers clamped virtual martial law on a wide section, scarred by rioting and night bombings.

President Kennedy sent Army troops to two Alabama bases with a grim warning that they would move into Birmingham if new violence erupts. Thousands of Negroes rioted early Sunday after bombs blasted a Negro minister's home and a motel.

Gov. George C. Wallace, arch-segregationist who once defied federal authorities over voter registration records, challenged the President's right to send in federal troops. He insisted state and local officers could preserve law and order.

Like City Under Siege

City officials and Negro leaders issued strong appeals for law and order. Birmingham, like a city under siege, lay uneasily quiet after Mother's Day dawned with smoke and fire from rioting and bombing.

Helmeted state troopers, city policemen and officers from numerous surrounding counties and towns patrolled the cordoned area in shifts. About 50 persons, including police officers, were injured in the rioting.

The President's action was three-pronged:

—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara was ordered to alert riot-trained Army units and to deploy them in Alabama. Troops moved into Maxwell Air Force Base at Montgomery, 80 miles to the south, and at Ft. McClellan at Anniston, 60 miles to the east.

Federalize National Guard

—Preliminary steps were taken for federalizing the Alabama National Guard. The papers have not been signed.

—Asst. Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall was sent back to Birmingham to consult with citizens and work with other Justice Department officials

In other developments:

—Shortly before Kennedy spoke, rifle bullets ripped into the home of two Negroes and a Negro church at Anniston, Ala.—where some of the troops were sent.

—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., head of the desegregation drive, urged discipline, restraint and nonviolence of Birmingham Negroes and insisted a shaky biracial agreement to settle the segregation dispute remained in effect.

—Mayor Albert Boutwell took a personal look at the damage and pledged, "retribution there will be—swift, stern and in full measure." Every resource, he said, was bent to apprehend those who planted the bombs.

—Wallace urged Alabama congressmen to use their influence for withdrawal of the federal troops.

—Negro leaders, including King, charged police officers with brutality.

400 Attend Lions Glaucoma Clinic

A total of 400 persons availed themselves of services at the free glaucoma clinic sponsored by the Salem Lions Club at the Memorial Building Saturday.

Dr. Craig George of Alliance, assisted by local nurses and other volunteers, conducted the examinations.

Earl Wilkinson, who was in charge of the clinic, said the turnout was gratifying.

Other Lions members on the glaucoma clinic committee were Charles Leach, Harold Shears and William Readshaw.

Glaucoma is an eye disease which can be arrested if discovered in time. However, a person's eyesight cannot be restored after he becomes blind from the disease.

Officials Resign In Argentina

Guido Survives
Another Crisis

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentine President Jose Maria Guido appeared today to have survived the ninth crisis of his year-old regime after maneuvering controversial Gen. Enrique Rauch out of the key post of interior minister.

All other Cabinet members resigned Sunday, following Rauch's charge that the administration was riddled with corruption and supporters of ex-dictator Juan Peron and ex-President Arturo Frondizi. Rauch finally handed in his resignation also after apparently getting assurance that some of those he wanted out would be removed.

Guido withheld action on the other ministers, but he snapped up Rauch's resignation. He named Gen. Osiris Villegas, former army operations officer, to be interior minister. The post ranks next to the presidency.

Government sources expected Guido to drop four civilian ministers whom Rauch had attacked and War Secretary Benjamin Rattenbach, who had denounced the interior minister for causing the Cabinet rift.

Rauch touched off the crisis last week by demanding replacement of most civilians in the Cabinet by military men, sweeping arrests and drastic overhaul of Argentina's penal laws to weed out disciples of Frondizi and Peron.

Rauch claimed the support of Gen. Juan Carlos Onganía, the army commander in chief who seconded his call for a crusade against corruption.

Rauch quickly ran into opposition from Rattenbach, however. The war secretary said the main goal of Guido's caretaker regime was to fulfill its promise to hold general elections July 7 to restore a constitutional government. Rattenbach expressed fear that Rauch's crusade might hold up the elections, a move he said could not be tolerated.

Rural Mail Box Week Is Observed

The Salem post office is cooperating with Postmaster General J. Edward Day in a nationwide mailbox improvement program. Postmaster R. J. Reasbeck announces.

Superintendent of Mails William M. Schaeffer is in the process of inspecting Salem's five rural mail routes, which are composed of 2,075 boxes serving 9,000 patrons.

Each rural box is inspected for height, so that the box can be serviced from the carrier's car conveniently and safely, and for approach, which calls for proper grading and lack of obstruction at all times.

In addition, each box must have a signal flag, be securely fastened to a well-set post, and have the patron's name printed on the side of the box visible to the approaching carrier. Also, the mailbox must be correctly painted.

Patrons whose boxes need attention are being given notice listing specific needs.

Postmaster Reasbeck points out that correctly erected and maintained boxes contribute to efficient, speedy delivery of mail and add to the appearance of real estate.

BUNN GOOD SHOES

Wise Camper Knows Need of Properly Maintaining Tent

Millions of Americans will be camping out this summer—on weekends, during vacations and, in some cases, for months at a time. During those periods, most of the campers will be using canvas tents for their homes. And, like regular houses these tents must be properly maintained if they are to give maximum service.

A constant enemy of canvas is mildew. To prevent it, remember these tips: never roll up a tent when wet. Never roll up the stakes and the pole with the tent. And never store the tent in a damp place.

Sunshade Good Idea for Patio

Some sunny patios can be adorable during most of the year, but downright uncomfortable when the hot summer sun makes a grid-dle out of the area.

It is surprising how very little is needed to put a sunshade over the patio and thus create an air-conditioned outdoor living room. Just as comfortable in the hottest sun is the patio with the eye shade.

How do you do it? For a simple slatted screen overhang or eye shade, use standard sizes and grades of good lumber. The framework need not be extra heavy, but it should be durable and able to withstand winds. Solid four-by-four inch posts, preferably of western red cedar or Douglas fir, will hold up a substantial structure. Then ordinary fir or cedar 2 x 4s can be used for the rest of the overhang framework. For the sun screen, use 1 x 2 inch fir lumber spaced one inch between each board. This will provide an amazing amount of shade and set up cool areas where small breezes generate. You can stain this installation or paint it to match the home.

Generally you can fasten one of these eyeshades directly to the house to give it added stability.

Richard Borton of 868 N. Hawley Ave. has received a permit for $7,000 worth of inside remodeling at his home.

Here's the Answer

QUESTION: I recently purchased an old mahogany bureau. The previous owner had removed the old finish, but never got around to refinishing it. The wood has large, open pores. I would like to stain and lacquer the bureau, but do not know whether it is necessary to use wood filler.

ANSWER: The opened-pore appearance of genuine mahogany must be given an application of wood filler if you want a smooth surface. However, some persons consider the woody effect highly desirable and therefore do not use a wood filler.

Professional wood finishers recommend that the various finishing materials be applied to mahogany in this order: stain, sealer, wood filler, sealer and finishing coats. In applying the stain, it is well to remember that mahogany develops a rich mellow color after years of exposure to the light. Therefore, be sure that you use a very light stain, otherwise a color that appears fine now may be too dark in a few years.

If you decide to use a filler, follow the instructions on the container to the letter, otherwise you will get a blotchy result. You will find that these directions call for wiping the filler into the wood with a circular motion across the grain of the wood. A piece of burlap or similar material is used for the wiping.

QUESTION: The roof on our house is flat, with a slight slant to it. Lately, there has been a tiny leak through one side of the skylight during heavy rainstorms.

It seems to be coming through at a point where the skylight meets the roof, but I have made several examinations without finding even the smallest opening. Is there some way I can fix the leak, even though I do not know exactly where the water is coming through?

ANSWER: Not knowing where the leak is, your best bet is to fix all possible suspected areas. First, be sure the glass is tight in the frame. Water could be leaking under loose putty.

There is metal flashing where the skylight is joined to the roof. See that the flashing is tightly in place. Look for exposed nailheads or nailholes, since water could leak along or through them. If there are such nailheads or holes, or any tiny cracks around the flashing, cover them with roofing cement. Spread out the cement so there are no valleys which might trap rain water.

Your last checkpoint is the skylight frame, especially if it is made of wood. Look for splits or signs of rot. Fill all openings with wood putty or plastic wood and give the entire frame a coat of exterior paint.

QUESTION: Is it possible to repair a cigarette burn on the top of a dark mahogany table?

ANSWER: Yes. But if it is an expensive table, it should be done by a professional wood finisher. If you wish to take a chance yourself, it can be done this way: wrap some steel wool around a toothpick, matchstick or other small piece of wood and probe the burned area until the blackened or scorched part is removed. You then will have to determine whether the burn has damaged only the finish or has gone right through into the wood.

Mix a little Turkey red oil color with some varnish until you get a hue matching that of the table top. Test, if possible, on some unfinished part of the table such as the underside. Apply the varnish to the damaged area with a toothpick or very small brush. More than one application may be necessary.

But if the burn has damaged the wood itself, melt some stick shellac (available at most hardware stores) with a soldering iron or heated knife blade and allow the melted shellac to drop into the opening. Apply enough so that it is a tiny bit above the surface. When it is dry smooth the area with fine steel wool. You then will have to decide whether the spot needs a light coat of clear varnish or colored varnish.

Water Vital Ingredient In Patching Concrete Mixture

Water is the vital ingredient in the concrete mixture used for a patching job. It is also the vital ingredient in what is called the curing process, so necessary after the repair has been made.

Too much water in the mix will weaken the finished patch, although the concrete will appear to have hardened into a strong, solid mass. Too little water keeps the mixture from being workable; that is, the various components will not cling together properly.

If you buy one of the premixes, the instructions on the bag will tell you how much water to add. Be sure to follow them implicitly. Don't make a rough guess at how much a quart or a gallon is. If you mix the concrete, using the popular 1:2:3 proportion (one part portland cement, two parts sand and three parts gravel), five gallons of water for a sack of 90-pound cement usually is recommended. Some sacks give directions as to the amount of water. Some manufacturers avoid this, since less water is needed when wet sand is used.

In mixing concrete, run the tip of a trowel through it occasionally. The trowel should leave a smooth, even surface without any bumps when it is ready to be used.

There are some very small cracks in concrete that can be repaired with a mixture containing only portland cement and water. Generally, however, the crack should be enlarged along its entire length with a chisel and hammer before any mixture is applied. Making the crack wider at the bottom than at the top, known as undercutting, helps to keep the new mixture firmly in place. Be sure all debris and pieces of the old concrete have been removed from the opening before filling the area with the new concrete. When the mixture begins to set, usually in 20 or 30 minutes, smooth it down with a metal trowel or a wooden float. The trowel is used when you want a smooth surface, the float for a rough surface.

Curing the patch consists of wetting it down at least one a day for several days. This pre-

Check Trouble Areas If Dryer, Washer Fail

Homemakers waste more than $50 million a year on unnecessary calls for home laundry appliances.

This estimate is from Robert S. Payne, general service manager of the Maytag Co., who says about one-third of home laundry service calls fall into the "nuisance" category.

If you have trouble with your washer or dryer, check these points before calling the serviceman:

Be sure the appliance is plugged in. In a surprising number of homes to find that someone—perhaps a child—has pulled out the plug.

Check to see that hot and cold water are turned on. As a safety feature, many automatic washers will not operate if one or both faucets are shut off.

Does your washer stop operating during the final spin of the cycle? If so, it probably is equipped with a balance control, which is supposed to stop the unit if the clothes in the wash basket become unevenly distrib-

Very Delicate Situation

A recent observation that Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Arizona Republican, would have to step lively to keep his party's reactionaries from capturing him alive might well have been broadened out to include the problems of other potential Republican presidential candidates.

All of them want to avoid being captured alive before they are ready to give up their freedom.

Gov. George Romney of Michigan and Gov. William S. Scranton of Pennsylvania want to retain their freedom of motion and judgment until they have had a chance to make administrative records for themselves.

Even New York Gov. Rockefeller, who has seemed to be most willing to let himself be captured, needs to be careful whose pit-fall he lands in. With him as with all the rest it is a very delicate situation.

THE FACT will be mentioned as little as possible, but it is a fact — that the next Republican candidate, whoever he is, will be running against long odds.

The two-term limit on the presidency has not been in effect long enough to be tested thoroughly, but its effect promises to make the maximum become the minimum. All presidents have been potential favorites to succeed themselves as soon as they were elected. But under the two-term limit the odds in their favor to serve two terms are even more favorable.

President Kennedy must be regarded as beatable in 1964. Otherwise, the next presidential election would be handed to the Democratic party by default.

Every Republican who might get the party's nomination must say that President Kennedy is beatable. Every party spokesman must make the rafters ring with hearty assurances that President Kennedy is beatable, the same as Democrats promised to beat Dwight Eisenhower with Adlai E. Stevenson in 1956 and Republicans promised to beat Franklin D. Roosevelt 20 years before with Alfred M. Landon.

WHEN IT WAS over, no one knew better than Gov. Stevenson and Gov. Landon why they never had a chance. They had done their duty in a hopeless cause. They were honored for their effort.

If Republican hopefuls seem to be matching footwork to see who can stay out of the way the longest this coming year, the impression will not be without good reason. This is precisely what they will be doing.

No one wants to be captured until the time comes to exchange freedom for opportunity and no one wants to be roped in by the wrong crowd.

Short View In Birmingham

The last thing and the least thing Birmingham officials need is to have it pointed out that their philosophy is coming unglued.

But it is. Other Southern cities and perhaps some Southern states may have to change their viewpoints as the result of Birmingham's experience with Negroes who want to be arrested so they can go to jail.

Among those who have gone already and presumably among those who will be willing to go in the future are hundreds of children.

IN A CITY by no means equipped to handle thousands of prisoners at a time it will take a miracle to avert a scandal about their care. Reports already have been circulated about gross inadequacies of food.

The arrest of so many Negroes in the sight of other Negroes is certain to have the effect of increasing group cohesion. This has been one of the toughest problems for Negro leadership in connection with demonstrations against denial of civil liberties—the fact most Negroes, having lived all their lives with the purpose of avoiding trouble, are reluctant to identify themselves with positive action. Birmingham has worsened its problem by trying to solve it.

Birmingham cannot put all its Negroes in jail. It cannot keep the Negroes in jail it has put there so far.

WHEN THE demonstrations began, officialdom took the short view of a long-range problem. As the problem stretches out and becomes more troublesome each day, the short view holds no hope.

This is the issue of Negro rights in the United States. It is whether in the long view of their rights as guaranteed in the Constitution here is a place for short-view procedure like Birmingham's attempt to jail Negroes who assert themselves.

If all Negroes in Birmingham assert themselves, what then?

All In the Same Family

It is impossible for people in the northern tier of states adjacent to Canada to believe there ever could be dissoluble differences between the United States and Canada.

They never have clearly understood the source of the edginess that reportedly has crept into Canadian feeling toward the United States. It is easy to understand why some Canadians wonder if U.S. influence may not be overdone in Canada. But it is hard to believe the Canadian people as a whole feel like turning against U.S. influence merely as a protest against too much of it.

IF EDGINESS has been in fact what it has seemed to be — a feeling invented and blown up out of proportions by politicians looking for issues to exploit — the influence of Lester B. Pearson, Canada's new Liberal prime minister, should remove the cause.

The triangular partnership of the United States, Great Britain and Canada should grow stronger in the next few months. President Kennedy, Prime Minister Pearson and Prime Minister Macmillan speak the same political language.

The influence of Mr. Pearson's predecessor, John Diefenbaker, will not simply disappear because he no longer is prime minister. But he no longer is in a position to express and assert hostility officially. Mr. Pearson now is in that position, and he and Mr. Kennedy have exchanged friendly views on their responsibilities.

TRADE DISCUSSIONS and Atlantic defense, the two sore points chafed by Mr. Diefenbaker, now can proceed on a friendlier basis.

If and when Canada comes to a showdown on trade with Cuba and China and possible diplomatic recognition of the Chinese Communists, perhaps Washington and Ottawa will understand each other well enough to muddle through even that complication without rancor.

Letter From Max

By Martin R. Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

It looked there for awhile as though all that talk about the "problem" of leisure had died down, and good riddance. Then along comes a magazine article which nailed the lid of the coffin down tighter and expressed my own opinion better than I could.

So I thought I would just take the liberty of asking you about your leisure "problem." Twill, you having a hard time finding things to do in your "spare" time? What a laugh! Probably you don't want to take time out from the midnight lambing season to answer that right now.

And the lawn needs mowing again, the weeds are liberating the garden from the flowers and vegetables, the house could stand some touchup painting, the screen doors need fixing, and there will always be all those good and bad books you hope to read someday.

And how about your correspondence? If you are up to date, you should be nominated for the Hall of Fame of Prompt Letter Writers.

THIS MAGAZINE article didn't put it quite this way but it said loud and clear that leisure is an individual problem and not a social one.

It is one thing to tell someone in a paying job how to work, and an entirely different thing to tell someone how to spend his time off work, although a few nudges might be justified.

It is true that the person who volunteers for extra work in his regular job may go up the ladder faster and further, but outside of regular employment the pressures for volunteering for leisure-time avocations are more vague and varied.

If you try to list all the hobbies, organized recreations, social service opportunities and groups available for leisure-time activities you go dizzy.

Some of us go for these group activities and some of us don't. What is one man's leisure is another man's lesson.

When it comes to problems, leisure doesn't hold a candle to unemployment. If a person can get a job he can take care of his own leisure.

It is always surprising to hear about how many people are enrolled in night college classes and other self-improvement courses in their off-job hours.

RECENT STUDIES show another factor which discounts the overrated leisure "problem." This factor is moonlighting.

A lot of people whose hours have been reduced in their regular jobs are moonlighting in extra part-time jobs.

You want to know who some of the first moonlighters were? They were the ancient shepherds in the Middle East who lay with their flocks in the grassy hills at night and gazed at the sky figuring out how the stars moved. Some of them wrote poetry which we still read.

One of these nice summer nights after bowling league and when there isn't anything good on television we'll have to get together and sit outdoors and watch the stars.

We owe it to them, because they were there long before the Hollywood variety came along.

Faithfully yours,
MAX

Attempts To Amend Constitution Not Censurable

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Impromptu statements by a president of the United States at a news conference can evoke widespread criticism, especially if the answers show that they have not been thought through.

Thus, President Kennedy over nationwide TV and radio networks told a large section of the American people on last Wednesday that, in effect, there is something wrong in trying to amend the Constitution of the United States.

That document itself prescribes the methods of amendment, and the fact is that the Constitution has been amended 22 times since the founding of the Republic.

Mr. Kennedy has a right to oppose particular amendments that he doesn't like. But he will be regarded as out of bounds when he declares that people who want to amend the Constitution are not "defending" the Constitution, particularly when their purpose in the instance referred to is to secure the adoption of specific amendments that will preserve and defend the basic principles of the Constitution itself against usurpation and abuse of power.

The President's words, as they appear in the White House Transcript of Wednesday's news conference, were as follows:

"It has always seemed to me remarkable that those people and organizations who are founded in order to defend the Constitution should seek to change it, and particularly to change it in such a basic way, either to affect the power of the Congress to amend the Constitution and put severe limitations upon the Congress, which, after all, represents the people most directly, or otherwise to affect the power of the Supreme Court, which is one of the most important protections of individual rights and one of the most important securities we have for an amicable settlement of disputes, and which, after all, became such a significant part of our American constitutional development under the leadership of an American who is usually heralded—Mr. John Marshall. So I would think that the efforts will come to nothing, and I will be glad when they do not."

MR. KENNEDY failed to tell his audience that the current movement to amend certain parts of the Constitution has grown out of the controversy over who should apportion the votin districts in a state and other instances of alleged usurpation of power by the Supreme Court—which has no right to amend the Constitution.

The proper methods at present for making changes in the Constitution are specified in the document itself.

Mr. Kennedy apparently hasn't looked into the proposals which have been made recently by various organizations of citizens and which already have received the support of several state legislatures.

First of all, it is important to emphasize something which the general public may not realize and which perhaps high officials in our government have brushed aside—namely, that the Constitution can be amended in other ways than by a two-thirds vote of both houses of Congress and ratification by three-fourths of the State Legislatures. It can be done directly by the people.

For Article V of the Constitution provides that Congress "on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress."

IT SO HAPPENS that the famous prohibition amendment was repealed and the Twenty-First Amendment substituting for it was adopted without being submitted to the legislatures of the states. It was ratified instead by conventions in two-thirds of the states summoned by the State Legislatures. It took only nine months to accomplish ratification by the convention method, and established a record for quick ratification.

The present movement—which Mr. Kennedy calls, in effect, an attack on the Constitution—is sponsoring three amendments. The first would clarify the language of Article V and simplify the procedure so that, whenever two-thirds of the State Legislatures submitted identical texts of a particular amendment to be voted on and it was then approved by three-fourths of the State Legislatures, the amendment would be automatically certified as having been adopted.

The second amendment proposed would preclude federal consideration of matters relating to reapportionment of State Legislatures.

The third proposes the creation of a "court of the union" which would have the final say in matters of conflicting state-federal claims of power under the Constitution.

These three amendments would, of course, be valid only if adopted under either of the two existing methods now prescribed in the Constitution. A dozen State Legislatures have already approved the first amendment, another dozen the second and three the third.

The National Council of State Governments—composed of official representatives of each state in the Union—adopted a resolution last year proposing the three amendments described above. The council said that there had been a strong shift toward the extension of federal powers and that various federal court decisions "carry a strong bias on the federal side."

HERE, THEREFORE, is a creditable movement by citizens who are proceeding in a constitutional manner. Yet Mr. Kennedy, with a sweeping denunciation that reveals he hasn't really studied the problem, puts the presidential finger of discredit on them as somehow having an improper attitude toward amending the Constitution, even though the method they are using to make the change is specifically prescribed in the Constitution itself.

"Can You Spare a Minute, Mr. President?"

Challenge to Americans

By PETER EDSON

What kind of a key is it that is required to unlock the golden era, a period of undiluted prosperity and economic well-being for all?

It is obvious that we need more jobs, in order to wipe out the present unemployment and to provide the thousands of new jobs that will be required by our advancing population, particularly the youth who are reaching employment age.

It is estimated that we will require from 50,000 to 60,000 new jobs each week to take care of new people entering the labor force and to replace jobs taken over by machines.

BUT HOW, in a free nation, do we get the jobs? The fate of the American way is dependent upon the success with which this problem is solved. Private enterprise cannot just wave the hand and make jobs. The men who run business and industry do not have that kind of control over the situation, and neither does the government.

The way to more jobs is through more markets. Losses of careful planning and hard work will be required in advertising and selling, and as success is apparent here, another secret will be revealed.

The route to greater markets is lower prices. That has been the history of our system of mass production. Henry Ford found that everytime he was able to lower the price of his cars his potential market jumped by the thousands. But today we face keen foreign competition in almost every field.

Foreign goods are making inroads in all markets, in America and abroad. We have never before experienced foreign competition to this extent, and we have not yet learned how to compete with it.

HOW, THEN, can we turn the key to more markets by building better products at lower prices? Well, we are doing it by automation.

These technological advances plus efficient merchandising are right now bringing prices on consumer durable goods to their lowest levels in five years. This price advantage has occurred while the average wage level in U. S. factories was climbing to a record $2.45 per hour, 15 per cent higher than in 1958.

But there is a way to achieve lower prices that has not been very well explored, and this, we believe, can become the golden key that will unlock a bountiful future.

Although they have not been in a position to say much about it, many of the nation's top industrial leaders believe that productivity could be increased by as much as 20 per cent just through understanding, good will, and the cooperation of employees. What a wonderful challenge they have, to gether with the unions in their plants, to see whether this can be done.

A PRODUCTION INCREASE of 20 per cent experienced without added costs would make this whole economy zing.

In most cases this alone would put American goods back in the markets at home and abroad. Tax revenues would be adequate. There would be more national wealth and jobs for everybody. Americans, already the greatest consumers in the world, would have more and live even better than today. Communist societies would tend to lose their glamor.

Why have we not worked harder to see what can be done through mutual understanding? Possibly we have been too busy tooling up for production, as well too busy boosting the wage levels. For 15 years following the war, the warehouses of the world were empty and production was needed.

From the Files

10 YEARS AGO — Larry Stoffer and Matt Klein were named junior and sophomore class presidents, respectively, for the 1953-54 school year at elections held this week at Salem High School. Ken Bosu is vice president and Janice Jeffries, secretary-treasurer of the junior class. Sophomore vice president is Richard Coppock, and secretary-treasurer is Mary Mercer.

25 YEARS AGO — Miss Kathryn Cessna of Salem will play a leading role in the Mount Union College May day pageant Saturday when she gives up the May queen crown to Miss Katherine Smith of Mingo Junction. Miss Cessna was crowned queen during the 1937 May day pageant. Four times during her four years on the campus she was voted "most beautiful woman" on the Mount Union campus. Another Salem senior, Miss Mary Coy, a member of the senior queen's court.

ed. Now the picture has changed. Foreign markets are more nearly saturated, their own know-how has improved, and they are even seeking and finding markets in America.

WE STILL CAN ENTER the Golden Age if:

(1) Understanding and good will can be achieved.

(2) Wage increases can be kept in line with productivity increases. (3) The fruits of automation and efficiency are fairly divided between stockholders, the buying public, and the employees, and (4) Markets can be regained to make good jobs plentiful with no reduction in wages.

Lacking these we can increase unemployment, become entangled in labor-management strife, and finally kill the goose that lays the golden eggs.

Then we will be forced into socialism and mediocrity for everybody, with finally nothing left to divide but poverty.

Vacation Jolt

Dear Ann: Last night my parents were discussing our summer plans. We have a cottage in northern Illinois and for the past five years my folks have let me invite a boy friend up for a couple of weeks in July. This year I told them I'd like to invite a girl and they almost bit my head off.

By the way, I ought to tell you that I am a boy, 17.

We have two bedrooms in our cottage with twin beds in each room. The girl could sleep with my mother and my dad could bunk with me.

We are well-behaved kids and wouldn't think of doing anything wrong. Besides Ann, my folks would be with us every minute. I'm pretty disappointed to think my folks don't trust me.

How can kids behave their best when their parents expect the worst? Please help me swing this, Annie. You were young once. —B. WILDERED.

Dear B: Sorry Buster, you rattled the wrong cage. I'm not about to suggest that parents of teen-agers provide a setup as cozy as this.

I'm sure you are good kids and have no intention of doing anything wrong. But I was indeed young once and I know that night-and-day exposure is pretty strong stuff. Under such conditions chemistry might prove to be a more powerful force than judgment.

An' for your information, Buddy Boy, maybe your parents have some notions about spending two weeks in separate bedrooms.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Here's why teachers are bitter about the size of their paychecks: The average income of all college graduates is better than $10,000 a year. But the average pay of public school teachers and supervisors—most of whom hold college degrees—is only $5,215 annually.

We have good news for beatniks today: A London firm has developed a new brush specially designed to remove stubborn knots and birds' nests from mustaches and beards.

Dear Gals: We have had so many complaints on the stains and odors in polyethylene (plastic) containers that we have had an interview with an authority on the subject.

Anna Tate, distributor of one of the largest plastic products lines, was in my home and demonstrated for us. Here's what she had to say:

clean. However, if orange juice, "I have used and sold these containers for years. Most of the complaints sent in on these containers are due to the lack of information received by the customer.

"OUR COMPANY recommends that thorough washing with detergents regularly will usually keep polyethylene canisters clean. However, if orange juice, tomato juice or iced tea leave a stain, merely wash, rinse and fill with a mild bleach and water solution, let stand overnight, and the next morning, the container will be nice and white again. Bleach will not harm it.

"Onions, which we like to have on hand, all chopped up ready for hamburgers, etc. remaining in your sealed container in the refrigerator for several days may leave the "fragrance."

Just wash your polyethylene container in hot suds, rinse and dry, then crumple a piece of black and white newspaper into the container, seal and leave overnight. The next morning—no odor!

"THE BLACK printer's ink on the newspaper will absorb the odors from the polyethylene. The porousness of the newspaper helps too. Don't use colored sections, or a page from a magazine. This is just more evidence that the best buy we get today for our money is a newspaper. After we've read it—we still find it a great help for housewives.

HELOISE. DEAR FOLKS: For those of you who have black faille, pointed-toe shoes and knock a piece out of the toe, did you know you could take a felt-tipped marker and make the damaged spot presentable?

And let me give you another hint as to how those pointed toes become damaged. Going up steps. So watch it.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Treatment For Warts

The ideal disease for mumbo jumbo treatment is warts — said to be the commonest skin disease of childhood.

Dr. Brandstadt

Monkeyshines in a graveyard at midnight is a popular way to treat warts. This method succeeds in about 30 per cent of the cases — for the simple reason that if you did nothing at all for warts, you would achieve the same results.

After centuries of study of this fascinating subject, doctors know that warts are caused by a virus. But they still don't know why some warts disappear spontaneously. Whenever such a disappearance occurs it is natural for the patient to sing the praises of his specific treatment.

That is why the power of suggestion has been credited with many cures, and why a host of remedies—now known to be worthless—have had a vogue.

ALTHOUGH WARTS ARE due to an infection with a virus, they are only slightly contagious and attempts to prevent their spread from person to person in swimming pools and gymnasiums have not yielded any better results than letting nature take its course.

A child who has warts is much more likely to spread them from one part of his body to another than to pass them on to a playmate.

For warts that don't disappear spontaneously, several treatments have been found to be effective. These include burning them off, the electric needle, freezing, salves that contain salicylic or trichloroacetic acid, cutting away the involved skin, and X-ray.

IT NOW APPEARS that a simpler method is successful in about 80 per cent of cases. The affected part is soaked in water kept at a constant temperature of 113 to 188 degrees F. for 30 to 90 minutes once or twice a week until the warts disappear. This may take from two to three weeks to three months. Care must be taken not to cause a burn.

It has been observed that in the case of stubborn warts that will not go away by themselves but must be removed, a certain small per cent recur, whereas those that disappear spontaneously are less likely to return.

BOYS GROW UP FASTER THESE DAYS

Note carefully the names of those who are making news in business, politics, science, and the professions today. You'll be surprised at their age. Many of them are quite young.

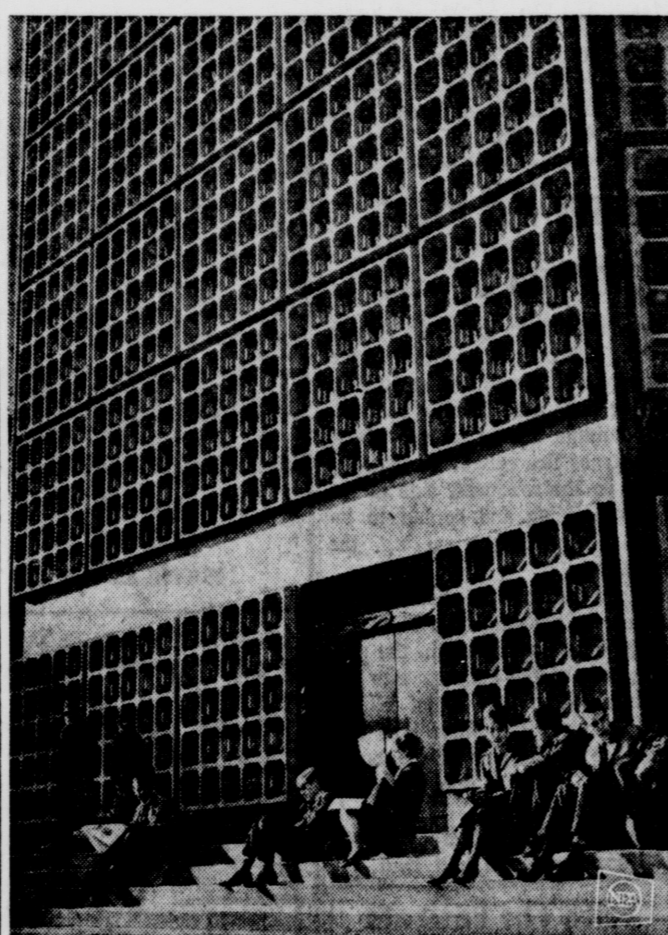

It's true that boys are growing up faster, and distinguishing themselves earlier, these days.

A boy must be well prepared to gain a position of leadership in his chosen field at an early age. Fortunately, there is a way through which he can add both to the breadth and depth of his education. Through the conduct of his own business as a newspaperboy, he learns to accept responsibility, develops self-confidence, and discovers the importance of seeing a job through to successful conclusion. He learns how to get along with people. And he earns while he learns.

tality. This was denied by officials.

The President pledged federal troops in the wake of night-long rioting that followed the bombing of the Gaston Motel, a headquarters of the integration movement, and the residence of the Rev. A. D. King, a younger brother of King.

Kennedy cut short a weekend at Camp David in the Maryland mountains and returned to Washington for consultation before announcing his decision.

Wallace wired the president: "In my judgment, your statement about the possible use of troops has tended to aggravate and inflame the existing situation rather than to alleviate the same, as we have done."

He told newsmen that "The Negro mobsters desire federal troops," but omitted that from his telegram to Kennedy.

He asked Kennedy, "under what authority would you send federal troops into the state?"

At a mass church meeting of about 2,000 Negroes, King said he considered Kennedy's statement a strong one which "shows the administration is concerned about this problem and is willing to take forthright action to preserve the citizenship rights of Birmingham Negroes."

The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, an associate of King, told the wildly cheering audience that "Gov. Wallace has moved with his statement, but thanks be to God there's one higher than he!"

Abernathy said state troopers had beaten the Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker, top aide to King, and Mrs. Walker, State Public Safety Director Al Lingo denied it.

The Negro leaders spoke at a church which for the first time was guarded by police officers with carbines, shotguns and sidearms.

About one mile away, smoke rose from the rubble of two stores and a house either destroyed or ruined by fire set during Saturday night's melees.

The night's terror began when two blasts wrecked the home of the Rev. A. D. King. He and his wife and five children escaped injury. A large crowd of Negroes formed but was dispersed by King.

The two bombs damaged the Gaston Motel in the Negro business section. Three women were injured.

Shell Police Vehicles

Thousands of Negroes gathered in the area. They shelled police and fire vehicles with rocks and other missiles.

A policeman was stabbed twice in the back.

A white taxi driver was stabbed. Negroes overturned his cab and set fire to it in front of a church.

Rocks rained on police cars and autos of passersby. Tires were slashed, fires set and knives flashed. Negro civil defense workers and integration leaders restored some semblance of order by dawn.

Mrs. Cooper Excited About Son's Flight

TECUMSEH, Okla. (AP)—Natie Cooper is as excited as a mother whose only son is getting ready for his first date.

Her only son, L. Gordon Cooper, 36, is getting ready for a special date with history, in a 22-orbit, 34-hour trip around the world.

Mrs. Cooper, a pert, gray-haired grandmother, is visiting her mother in this quiet central Oklahoma town.

"I came down here to take care of mama," she said.

Her mother, Orena Herd, interrupted. "But I'll bet I wind up taking care of her."

Mrs. Cooper is anxious for her son to start his flight. "Naturally, I'm nervous," she admitted, "we all are. I think we all have a basic fear of the unknown."

Her gray eyes sparkle as she talks about her son, a Marine Major.

Several photographs of Gordon sit atop the mantel and a bookcase in the living room of Mrs. Herd's modest frame home.

"I never believed in telling Gordon what he could or couldn't do," she said. "And we all know he'll be in good hands."

"Whatever happens to us," she said, "is all a part of the pattern of our lives. I believe God has a pattern for each of us."

How will she while away the long hours Gordon will be in orbit?

"Oh, I'll just walk the floor, and chew my nails, and drink lots of coffee," she said, her face breaking into a broad grin.

Head Dies at 57

EAST LIVERPOOL — Ralph W. Betts, 57, superintendent of East Liverpool schools for nearly 12 years and active in many community affairs, died suddenly late Sunday afternoon after being stricken with an apparent heart attack at his home.

Mr. Betts was stricken after returning from a round of golf with his wife, who found him slumped in a chair. He was pronounced dead on arrival at City Hospital about 5 p.m.

He apparently had been in good health, although he suffered an attack of influenza several weeks ago. He became ill at the Board of Education meeting last Monday night and left the meeting but returned in a few minutes.

A resident of East Liverpool for nearly 20 years, Mr. Betts came here in September of 1943 as high school principal, a post he held until his appointment as superintendent in September of 1951.

Mr. Betts leaves his wife, Sarah whom he married last July 8; two sons, a stepson and three grandchildren.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the First Church of Christ with the minister, John N. Mostoller, officiating. Burial will be in Green Lawn Cemetery in Nelsonville.

Friends may call Tuesday at the Dawson Funeral Home.

Motor Bike Mishap

Treated at the Central Clinic and released early Saturday was Walter B. Null, 48, of 925 N. Union Ave., who received lacerations and contusions of his left leg in a motor scooter accident about 12:05 p.m.

The mishap took place on N. Lincoln Ave. at the intersection of E. 5th St. when the hand held on the scooter stuck, causing Null to lose control of the vehicle, which then cut through a gas station, across E. 5th St., up over a curb, and through a picket fence in the yard of Nathan Harris before the driver was thrown off.

Null was preparing to participate in a Shriners parade.

Kent Center Here Seeks New Students; Rules Tightened

Despite more rigid admission requirements outlined by Kent State University, Francis Hazard, director of the university's Salem Academic Center, advises Salem district students to apply for entrance anyway.

The new set of requirements outlined for conditional and unconditional admission and approved by the KSU Board of Trustees has caused some consternation among prospective enrollees.

Hazard has been explaining the new regulations to interested students in Columbiana County Schools to answer questions about the new set-up, effective next fall quarter.

TO ENTER KSU or any of its centers on an unconditional basis now requires 16 units (years) of high school work with a grade average of C or better. A minimum of 12 or 16 units must be in English, social studies, science, mathematics, and foreign language, including at least six units representing four of the following areas:

- (1) Algebra, geometry, trigonometry (including advanced and solid versions) plus any other subjects such as probabilities or statistics which are recommended for approval to the Office of Admissions by the Department of Mathematics.
- (2) Laboratory science.
- (3) Any foreign language in which two units are taken.
- (4) World or general history.
- (5) Fourth-year English.

THE REGULATIONS state that these requirements may be waived in special cases where applicants are clearly recommended by their high-school principals and who achieve placement in the upper half of all college freshmen as measured by tests of college aptitude.

If a student wishes to enter KSU on conditional admission, he may without meeting all the unconditional requirements.

Provision must be made, however, for the removal of the "condition" while the student is attending the university, which means making up the missing required units, the regulations state. The student will be required to remove the "condition" as quickly as possible.

Ways recommended for removing the "condition" from the conditional admission are:

- (1) Receive credit for high school courses by examination (this includes preparation by tutoring, correspondence work or other means) or
- (2) Complete high school courses after admission to the university.

FAILURE TO REMOVE a conditional admission status results in the student's continued listing as a freshman and prevent him from taking upper division courses.

While the admission requirements are higher than formerly in regard to courses needed, the average grade requirement was dropped from a C plus to C, Hazard said.

"Any student with a high school diploma is admissible and a student should go ahead and apply and see what courses he needs to enter on an unconditional basis," he said.

Hazard has spoken to seniors at East Liverpool, Salem, Leetonia, Crestview, Beaver Local, Wellsview, Columbiana, and East Palestine High Schools. Wednesday he will finish his indoctrination tour at David Anderson High School in Lisbon.

Cherry Hill Plant Damaged by Fire

An automatic sprinkler which went into operation inside the Cherry Hill Corp. building on Elm St. at 5:40 p.m. Sunday restricted damage caused by the blaze.

A grass fire caught the wooden trim on the southwest side of the brick building and spread to inside the building, triggering the sprinkler.

While damage is believed to have possibly amounted to several hundred dollars worth, the precise cost of the damage was not known today. Fire Chief Elmer M. Bush reported there was fire damage to the side of the building and water damage on the building's interior.

The city fire fighters were on the scene about a half hour.

Domer Pleads Innocent at Arraignment

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Robert K. Domer pleaded innocent by reason of insanity at his arraignment today on two counts of first-degree murder.

He was indicted by the Stark County Grand Jury in the burning death of a man whose body was found in Domer's flaming automobile.

Common Pleas Judge John Rossetti ordered Domer, 43-year-old president of the Continental Mortgage Corp., committed to Lima State Hospital for observation for 30 days.

Judge Rossetti granted a defense motion that a Cincinnati pathologist, Dr. Frank P. Cleveland, be allowed to examine the dead man's body, which has been undergoing an autopsy in Cleveland.

The indictment charges Domer with killing Howard Franklin Riddle, 54-year-old Akron fruit peddler. It lists one count of premeditated murder and another count of kidnapping resulting in a death.

The victim was found April 23 in the burning automobile in Wayne County near the Wayne-Stark County line.

Domer was arrested April 29, when he returned to his fashionable Canton home after an absence of four weeks. He has pleaded innocent to charges of forgery and making false statements to a federal agency.

8 Persons Killed In Weekend Traffic

By The Associated Press

Nearly all the traffic fatalities reported to The Associated Press in Ohio over the weekend occurred in the western-southwestern part of the state.

The unusual situation for the 54 hours between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday found the populous northeast scot-free from highway deaths—barring belated reports.

In fact seven of the eight known deaths in as many accidents came roughly within an area stretching only 20 miles either side of a 75-mile line along Interstate 75 from north of Cincinnati to north of Sidney. None of the mishaps was on the superhighway itself.

Columbus had the only other reported fatality.

Ed Paar, president of United Steelworkers Local 4396, said he asked third shift workers to report as scheduled at 11 Sunday night after pickets were removed from the plant. Color Adds Something To Any TV Program

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Color adds something to any program, including a Western. "Bonanza" has beautiful landscape, and once in a while on my set I'm surprised to find a very red pair of cheeks or ears on the hero or even the heroine.

It's fun to observe Perry Como in his lavender or tangerine sweaters and see Lawrence Spivak looking pink and earnest against a dark blue patriotic background. But for the feminine viewer the Dinah Shore show has been the most fun of all.

Miss Shore wears beautiful, chic and subtly colorful clothes and sees to it that her feminine guest stars do too. Sometimes, in fact, we women become so bemused by the rich red taffetas, or the sand-colored chiffon, or the artful beadwork on the bodices, that we really don't pay as much attention as we should do the rest of the program.

Therefore, we're going to miss the Dinah Shore show next season when the star enjoys a sabbatical from television and its discipline. We're going to miss the color, the clothes and, of the music.

The Dinah Shore show has been a musical treat, a fine showcase of talent and a special joy to watch in color.

3-Man Panel To Report on Work Rule

WASHINGTON (AP)—A three-man panel reports today to President Kennedy its suggestions for solution of a work rule dispute that threatens to halt the nation's railroads June 12.

The special presidential panel represents a final phase of the government's strike-delaying machinery as what has become known as "the great featherbedding dispute" rumbles toward a showdown.

Many closed sessions were held with railroad leaders and spokesmen for the five operating railroad unions involved.

Recommendations of the panel are not binding on either side, but no strike can be called by law until 30 days after submission of the report.

The railroads contend that outdated work rules, which they label featherbedding, cost them about $600 million each year.

The dispute has simmered for four years, with the latest phase growing out of the Feb. 28, 1962, report of a 15-man commission appointed by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

NEW YORK (AP)—A handless Kansan paid a Mother's Day visit to his mother in New York Hospital—after piloting his own plane to get here.

Raymond Hollander, 41, of Wichita, Kan., who lost his hands when an old mortar shell exploded in his scrap yard 15 years ago said he flew through stormy weather, got lost and made two emergency landings when his gas got low.

But, he added, "if I had to walk here from Kansas, I would have. This will probably be my last trip here to see her."

Hollander said his mother, Lina Deutsch, 71, is a cancer patient and under heavy sedation most of the time, but was awake and able to talk to him.

"It was a very happy Mother's Day for me," he said.

McDowell Impresses Tebbetts As Tribe Rolls 9-3

Gus Triandos Hits Home Run

Indians Battle A's At Stadium Tuesday

CLEVELAND (AP) — The way it looks to Manager Birdie Tebbetts, Sam McDowell has the makings of a great pitcher—"If he can get the ball over."

The 20-year-old southpaw, who signed for a $75,000 bonus when he got out of high school in 1960, went nine innings at Detroit Sunday and pitched the Indians to a 9-3 victory over the Tigers. He struck out eight and gave up six hits—including a home run to Gus Triandos in the ninth inning—as the Tribe wound up a 13-game road trip with seven victories and six defeats.

The statistic that interested Tebbetts most, however, was the number of men McDowell walked.

Sudden Sam gave up six bases on balls. The Tigers managed to get men on base in all but three innings, and the first Detroit run scored on a wild pitch in the third. However, McDowell pitched himself out of trouble on other occasions, and the infield backed him up with three double plays.

"If he can get the ball over, he's going to be tough to beat," said Tebbetts. "He's especially got to get that fast ball over. That's the pitch that can make him a great pitcher."

"Put that fast ball with his canguep, which is as good as you can get, and he's got to win—provided he doesn't walk too many."

It was McDowell's second victory against two defeats. Sam's teammates made it easy for him, scoring nine runs in the first five innings. They rapped former Indian Don Mossi and four succeeding pitchers for 11 hits.

The Indians open a 14-game home stand Tuesday night against Kansas City. Scheduled to pitch for Cleveland is southpaw Jack Kralick.

men, of Warren; Mrs. Doris Boughton, Salem Bowling Association secretary and Mrs. Olive Ramsey, president of the Salem organization. Looking on are interested members from several of the 81 teams that competed in the event over the weekend.

Rookie Dave Morehead Wins 3rd As Bosox Triumph 4-1

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associate Press Sports Writer

Something over two decades ago, the Boston Red Sox had a good-looking young rookie out of San Diego's Herbert Hoover High School named Ted Williams. He became quite a hitter.

Today, the Red Sox have a handsome young rookie out of Herbert Hoover High who shapes up as quite a pitcher—Dave Morehead.

The hard-throwing 19-year-old right-hander kept his perfect record intact Sunday, winning his third straight with a 4-1 decision over the Washington Senators. He allowed just one hit—a home run with two out in the first inning to Chuck Hinton.

The victory gave Boston a split of the Fenway Park doubleheader. Washington took the opener 3-2 on Don Lock's 14th inning homer.

Elsewhere in the American League—the Los Angeles Angels ended the first-place Chicago White Sox' winning string at seven, winning 7-6 in 12 innings after being bombed by the Sox 14-2 in the first game of their doubleheader; Jim Bouton fired a two-hitter as the New York Yankees beat the Baltimore Orioles 2-0 with two unearned runs; the Cleveland Indians whipped the Detroit Tigers 9-3, and the Kansas City Athletics nipped the Minnesota Twins 2-1 before the second game of their doubleheader was rained out.

Leon Wagner's leadoff triple followed by Lee Thomas' double gave the Angels their overtime victory against the streaking White Sox.

Floyd Robinson's three hits and three runs batted in paced Chicago in the opener, won by right-hander John Buzhardt.

Bouton, making his first start of the year, retired the first 19 Orioles in order before Jerry Adair singled in the seventh. Brooks Robinson got the other Baltimore hit, in the eighth.

Tight Races Feature Robbyn's Knoll Loop

Robbyn's Knoll has taken a slim lead in the American Division with an 18-2 record, while Top Notch Pizza No. 2 has posted a similar mark in the National Division of the Robbyn's Knoll Golf League.

Saxon No. 1 trails by 1½ points in the American bracket with a 16-4 mark. Salem Music Center had a 15½-4½ slate in the other loop for second place in the standings.

Chet Tetlow took medalist honors recently in the American Division, while Kelly, Rhoades and Ware posted 40s. The Gordon Scott aggregation had the low gross 168.

In the other bracket Jim Fisher fired a 38 to take medalist honors for Top Notch Pizza No. 1, and his teammates came on to chalk up a 175 for low gross.

Dodgers Decision Giants 6-5 To Sweep Three-Game Series

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It may have been the vote of confidence club president Walter O'Malley gave to manager Walter Alston last week.

Or it may have been the mere sight of the hated Giants who heaped so much humiliation upon them last October.

Whatever it was, it worked wonders on the Los Angeles Dodgers.

From a dispirited, bungling crew of second divisioners, the Dodgers became an aroused team over the weekend, capped Sunday by their third straight triumph over the Giants.

Sunday's 6-5 victory was an even sweeter triumph than Friday night's 2-1 squeaker or even Saturday night's 8-0 shutout in which Sandy Koufax pitched his majestic no-hitter.

The Dodgers found themselves on the short end of a 5-2 score when they came to bat in the eighth inning.

Jack Fisher, seeking his fourth straight victory, hadn't let a run-St. Louis in the opener. Savage's home run snapped a 3-3 tie in the eighth of the nightcap for the Pirates.

Frank Torre's two-out single scored Johnny Callison with the winning run in the 11th inning of the Phils' opener. A double error by Brave pitcher Lew Burdette led to Philadelphia's winning run in the 12th inning of the nightcap.

Choo Choo Coleman's run-scoring single snapped a 12-12 tie in the eighth for the Mets' nightcap victory. Vada Pinson drove in five Cincinnati runs with a home run, double and two singles.

Bob Aspromonte's homer in the bottom of the 10th snapped a 1-1 tie for Houston against the Cubs.

Ken Boyer and Ted Savage delivered the key hits in the Cardinals' split with the Cincinnati Reds, winning the second game 13-12 after the Reds had taken the opener 3-0.

Boros' 279 Captures Colonial Golf Event

By MIKE COCHRAN

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Julius Boros ignored the "Big Three" dynasty Sunday and won the championship of the $60,000 Colonial national invitation golf tournament.

The big Mid Pines, N.C., veteran shuttled down the home stretch with a 1-over-par 71 to post a 279 total and douse a tournament victory drought that stretched back to 1960. The former national open champion picked up his last title check here three years ago.

Boros earned $12,000 for his victory march, threatened by a gallant challenge from little Gary Player blazing down the home home stretch.

The lithe South African, trailing by eight shots after 54 holes, raced through the front nine in 32 strokes, dipped four under par at the 14th and to within two strokes of the leader.

A bogey at the 15th coupled with a Boros birdie at the 14th erased the threat. Both parred on in, which enabled Player to snatch the second prize of $6,000 from favorite Jack Nicklaus, who had a par 70, a 284 total and third-place $3,500.

Arnold Palmer never threatened to successfully defend his title here and wound up 20 strokes off the pace at 299.

Youngstown South Captures Warren Track Carnival

Youngstown South will probably battle Columbian and defending champion Youngstown Rayen for the Class AA District track and field title at Reilly Stadium here Friday.

The Warriors gave an indication of their strength by capturing the fifth annual Warren Invitational track classic at Harding Stadium last Saturday night.

Coach John Mathey's aggregation outscored 25 other schools to grab the top spot with 42 5-6 points. Akron Buchtel was second with 41.

Only double winner in the event was Bill Lenkatis of Youngstown South. He set a record in the shot put with a heave of 52 feet, 7¾ inches, and was first in the discus as he tossed the platter 152 feet, 9½ inches.

Rayen's Roy Winston ran a blazing 14.8 in the 120-yard high hurdles. Richardson of South was timed in 20.3 for the 180-yard lows.

Area schools scoring points included Warren, 31 5-6; Rayen, 28-23; Alliance, 10; Braceville, 11½; Canton McKinley, 4½; North Lima, 4; Niles, 2; Youngstown Ursuline, 2; Ravenna, 1-1-3; and Kent Roosevelt, 1-3. Schools failing to score included Cardinal Mooney, Chaney, Canfield and Lowellville.

Hippley Garners Heat Race At Canfield Track

After setting a new track record in the time trials, Bill Forney of Youngstown proved it was no mistake by gunning his 1955 Chevy to victory in the 25-lap late model feature at Canfield Speedway Saturday night before 4,200 fans.

Bud Miller of Garrettsville won the first feature of his career in the amateur 20 lapper, winning over Jim Metlicka of Warren in his 1956 Ford.

Forney was clocked in :17.74 in the time trials to erase the mark of :17.82 set by Bud Cochran of Sharon in 1961.

Salem's Rabbi Hippley, who has been making winning a habit at the half-mile track, piloted his car to victory in the second heat for late models. He was fifth in the Australian pursuit.

In the amateur division, E. R. Pincombe of Salem placed and Jalmer Hill of Lake Milton was third in the second heat. Gene Secrist of Salem drove his car to a fourth place finish in the third heat.

Bob Hillman of Niles was the early leader in the late model feature, but was overhauled by Forney on the 21st lap. But Forney also had his troubles as Jim Bickerstaff of Mineral Ridge was right on his bumper the entire way. Forney finally edged Bickerstaff by one car length and Hillman had to settle for third spot.

Two amateurs joined the up-sidedown club in a wild consolation won by Bill Collins of Woodworth. Tom Weimer of Girard flipped first, followed by Art Figurski of Lake Milton. Neither was hurt.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

A word from THERON at the Country Store

We try to treat our customers in such a manner that will cause them to want to come back but we don't want to overdo it. A fellow was telling me we would have to stop treating his wife so nice, she wants to come every day.

One lady who won a couple steak dinners was so thrilled she gave me a kiss, her husband said he would have to get her out of here.

Both of these couples are wonderful people just like so many others who make a habit of visiting the Country Store.

I don't believe any store has more happy or more loyal customers than we now do.

Leetonia High School Band To Present Concert Friday

Leetonia High School's highly touted concert band, still basking in the warmth of a top rating at the state contest this month, will perform for the public at its annual spring concert Friday in the high school gymnasium.

Karl Meinhardt is in the process now of priming the young musicians for the musical highlight of the school year.

Besides the 65-piece high school band, shown above, Meinhardt will also direct the 40-piece junior high band and the 30-piece elementary school band whose performances will be a prelude to the senior high program.

The high school band will present two members which helped it with a superior ranking at the recent Arlington contest, Meinhardt said. These are "Voice of the Guns", a march by Kenneth Alford, and the "Variation Overture" by Clifton Williams.

Raymond Burkholder, a senior, will be featured tuba soloist, playing "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep".

The band's top musician will be presented the fifth annual John Philip Sousa award May 16 at the awards assembly. Band members will vote for their choice this week.

and Mrs. Harry Green of Lincoln St.
